

Innovation in Teaching Education Grants Available

Apply now for up to $750

The California Table Grape Commission (commission) is offering grants to educators in the table grape growing regions of California (the San Joaquin and Coachella valleys). The grants support innovative teaching projects in the areas of math, science, agriculture, California history, art, and health. The commission will award up to 35 grants, with a limit of $750 per grant.

Examples of previously funded projects include weather forecasting, hands-on engineering, school-based gardens, robotics, and after-school cooking classes.

WHO MAY APPLY

Elementary, junior high, and high school educators, including teachers, counselors, resource directors, and librarians, from schools in the table grape growing regions of California (the San Joaquin and Coachella valleys) may apply. The grant funds will be provided to the school for implementation.

DEADLINE

Deadline for submission is November 22, 2019.

Grant awards will be announced in January 2020; awarded projects must be completed during the 2019–20 school year.

SUCCESS STORIES

Upon completion, each grant recipient must complete and submit a report to the commission detailing the project outcome, goals met, and lessons learned. If possible, please include photos of the completed project. Photos may be used on the commission digital media properties. Please send completed project information via email to educationgrants@grapesfromcalifornia.com or via mail to the address above.

Reports should be received no later than one month after project completion.

Please contact the California Table Grape Commission at 559-447-8350 or educationgrants@grapesfromcalifornia.com with any questions you might have.

The Innovation in Teaching education grants are a community outreach program of California table grape growers.
